NEWS RELEASE

Frederick Municipal Airport to Exhibit At Major Business Aviation Conference

FREDERICK, MD – Feb. 1, 2018: Next week, Frederick Municipal Airport (FDK) will be represented at a key industry conference, where the audience has the potential to send important business to Frederick.

The airport will be well represented at the 2018 Schedulers and Dispatchers Conference hosted by the National Business Aviation Association. This conference is “the premier professional development event” for anyone with responsibility for scheduling or dispatching business aircraft, said Assistant Airport Manager Nick Sabo.

Frederick Airport and Economic Development staff will showcase the airport’s competitive amenities and proximity to major markets as leading reasons for business travelers to choose FDK instead of busier and costlier commercial service airports in the region. The airport aims to leverage attendance at the conference to increase business aviation operations and market future opportunities to those interested in development at FDK.

Special thanks to Plamondon Hospitality Partners and Frederick County Tourism for their donations of hotel and restaurant gift certificates, respectively. These items will be awarded as daily raffle prizes so first-time airport users can experience Frederick for an extended stay. The 2018 Schedulers and Dispatchers Conference takes place Feb. 6-9 in Long Beach, Calif.
