1. March minutes were approved.
2. Partnerships Update: Jenny reported that the March Compost Lecture in the 2019 Green Lecture Series went well and had 11 attendees. It was held at Fox Haven Farm on March 16. The next event will be about Edible Landscapes at C Burr Artz Library on April 11, 7 pm.

Christine reports (via email) that she has most of the speakers lined up for the remainder of the year and is putting together a calendar for the Green Neighbor Fest and to be shared via social media channels. She also will continue to create the flyers for each month's event.

Joanne stated that she would work on a Google calendar for the Committee to share so that we each know when the Lecture Series and other events are happening in the area.

3. Green Neighbor Festival: The Committee discussed what would be at the table for the Green Neighbor Festival this year and agreed to continue the waste/recycling/compost theme. Jenny will bring a compost bin and order forms, as well as a display tub full of compostable materials so it is clear what should go into the bins.

The table will also have a battery recycling bin and mascara wands bin (Wands for Wildlife).

We will be collecting Li batteries (no alkaline) and mascara wands (Wands for Wildlife) at our table. Other tables will collect other items for recycling and reuse.

4. Administrative items:
 - a. Next meeting May 6, 2019
 - b. Green Neighbor Festival is May 4, 2019.
5. No additional public comment.
